Madison schools facing decisions

By Mike Chambers
Staff writer

The way Madison School Superintendent Dan Kostencik sees it, his district has only three choices:

- Consolidate two grade schools, which means busing children and laying off teachers.
- Negotiate major salary adjustments for the district's 80 teachers.
- Go broke.

Madison School District 12 board members, facing with a $250,000 deficit for 1992-93, are expected to finalize budgetary cuts tonight (Wednesday night) at a regular board meeting.

The board is considering changing Blair Elementary, at College Street and Meredocia Avenue, and Harris Elementary, 7th Street and Alton Avenue, into a first- through second-grade center and a third- through fourth-grade center, respectively. Kindergarten classes would be unchanged at the two schools.

The changes would enable grade school class sizes to be increased, reducing the number of teachers required.

About 100 residents attended a previous public forum on the proposal. Many spoke again, transporting children by bus from their neighborhoods.

"There are still some things left hanging in the air. (But) Wednesday, I believe they (local residents) will be leaving with some answers, I hope, hopefully, are satisfactory," Kostencik said.

Because of the outcry at the last forum, the board agreed to conduct a second discussion prior to voting on the issue.

Kostencik said the need to bus children to the new school district is also financially a difficult decision to make.

"That's the hardest question to answer. My kids grew up in Harris School and walked to school every day. I know the value of a neighborhood school," Kostencik said.

"But as superintendent, my board requires me to make recommendations that are workable and sound."

Dust levels remain high

By Christopher Knight
Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD — Granite City has more harmful dust than almost any Illinois city and the state is trying to ensure that the city cleans up its act.

New rules approved by the Illinois Pollution Control Board in April instruct Granite City business to be more careful about kicking up and spreading unneeded particles, calling it a "dirty disease."

Dust monitors across the state found that Granite City and two towns in Cook County have levels of fugitive dust high enough to cause lung irritations.

The dust is thought to be caused by high industrial activity and heavy truck traffic.

Fugitive dust particles are pieces of dirt that are not confined, unlike smoke-stack dust that only blows during business operations. Fugitive dust is scattered from unpaved roads and uncovered acre piles consisting of junk, dirt or other waste or debris.

The dust is very fine, about one-tenth the size of a human hair.

"Recent studies show that these fine particles get into the lungs and more or less stay there," said Doug Lawler, manager of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's division of air pollution. "They don't get out and that is what is causing most of the concern."

If fugitive dust stays at high levels, it can be especially irritating to people with asthma, Lawler said. (See DUST, Page 6A)

County still last in DUI suspensions

SPRINGFIELD — Madison County has improved in removing drunken drivers from behind the wheel but it still ranks last in the state.

Mark Von Niede, administrative assistant to Madison County's State's Attorney Bill Haine, attributed part of the problem of motorists beating the state's DUI suspension record to a new state law.

The county is expecting to do much better in 1992, he said.

Just 70 percent of the 1,176 DUI arrests resulted in loss of driving privileges last year in Madison County, according to a new statistical report released by the Illinois Secretary of State's Office.

That's up from 76 percent of the 1,259 arrests the county recorded in 1990, but the statewide average is 91 percent.

Lawler said he couldn't say the state had better percentages than Madison County.

The results showed some "steady improvement," Von Niede said. (See DUI, Page 6A)

If there could be a "better breakfast" and also said that prisoners staying for longer than 48 hours should have a shower.

He was probably complaining that the place (jail cell) smelled, Sparks said.

"We take a chance by sending surveys to people we've arrested. However, we're willing to take that chance."

Sparks said the department uses surveys to monitor police interaction in the community. He sends out approximately 32 forms a month to both victims of crimes and alleged perpetrators (even those simply ticketed).

along with an addressed and stamped envelope. Also included in the survey are local residents calling in complaints to departmental catchers, such as complaints of loud music or animal problems.

"We decided to do the program because, one, we are concerned about what the public feels about us and, two, we were looking for feedback, both positive and negative," said Police Chief Don Knight.

"We want to serve the public and we wanted to know what they were thinking," Knight said. (See SURVEY, Page 4A)

Drug information sought

By Mike Chambers
Staff writer

Granite City police plan to expand their "Citizen Survey" program to get a handle on the drug problem in their city, a police spokesman said.

"We're right down the road from East St. Louis, and a few miles away from Alton. We have as much of a drug problem as everyone else," said Patrolman Mike Sparks. "We want to start zeroing in on it."

Sparks said the department has begun attaching a supplement to its "Citizen Survey" mailed to area residents who have been in contact with police in any manner. The supplement is a questionnaire designed to help in locating drug traffickers or information on illegal drug rings.

"Crack cocaine is more and more prevalent in our community and our patrol officers are encountering it on a regular basis," said the department's 1991 annual report.

According to the report, there were 40 drug-related arrests, and more than 4,000 grams of marijuana were seized. Fifty grams of cocaine (both crack and powder) and more than $12,300 in money were seized last year.

Sparks said the confidential information received from citizens will be passed along to the city's local drug unit, consisting of two undercover police officers or to the Metropolitan Enforcement Group in St. Louis.

The expanded "Citizen Survey" program is an offshoot to the current Neighborhood Watch crime prevention program the Granite City Police are using in some areas.

The survey is kept in strict confidentiality, Sparks said. The responses are utilized to help track drug flow around the city. Sparks said the program doesn't offer rewards because of limited funding.

Costello proposal worries auto parts dealers in area

By Mike Chambers
Staff writer

Bill Houser says he stands to lose about half his business if a bill co-sponsored by Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, makes it past the president's desk.

Houser is the owner of auto parts stores in Granite City and Pontoon Beach and has 30 employees working for him.

The legislation that could cut heavily into his business is House Bill 1790, known as the Design Protection Act of 1991, which would prohibit parts dealers from selling "knockoff" parts for American-made cars that are 10 years old or newer.

"(HB 1790) wouldn't be fair to any one in the after-market business," Houser said.

Victims, suspects praise police department

By Mike Chambers
Staff writer

It's a strange situation when the bad guys like the good guys, but that's apparently the situation in Granite City, according to a police survey taken recently.

The Granite City Police Department conducted a survey of 100 local residents who have utilized the local police department, whether by choice or otherwise. The survey showed, overall, the community is crime-free. Suspects included —

Pendleton killer seeks execution

SPRINGFIELD — A man convicted of the 1990 Madison County murder of a former Granite Cityan is formally asking the Illinois Supreme Court to stop any further appeals so his execution can proceed next fall.

In a petition filed with the high court, Lloyd Wayne Hampton asked that any further attempts to bar his execution be rejected. "Whether they may be filed by attorneys, family, friends, clergy, prisoners or any other persons or groups against capital punishment," he wrote.

When he was sentenced to die in 1990 by Madison County Circuit Judge Andy Matosian, Hampton said that he wished to be executed as soon as possible. But state law requires the Illinois Supreme Court to review all death penalty cases.

"Further appeals would be frivolous and worthless, and seven waste of the time and efforts of an already extremely overburdened court system," Hampton said in his petition to the high court.

The Illinois Supreme Court last week upheld Hampton's conviction and sentence and scheduled a Nov. 11 execution date.

Hampton, a Texas native, pleaded guilty to the strangulation and stabbing murder of Roy E. Pendleton of Troy, formerly of Granite City, in 1990 and killed a court officer that he enjoyed killing and would do so again if he was ever released.

If Hampton gets his wish and all further appeals are blocked, he would be the second person executed in Illinois since 1985.

The first person to be executed, Charles Walker, in 1990, had also "asked to be put to death" and had opposed appeals on his behalf.

Tire recycling tests promising

Illinois Power could recycle up to half of the old tires discarded in the state each year if testing under way at the Illinois Power Station proves successful.

Illinois is being buried under a growing pile of discarded tires: between 11 million and 14 million end up in state landfills, vacant lots, and storage areas every year. Side by side, that many tires would create a tube stretching from Decatur to Los Angeles.

In a cooperative experiment with the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources, IP is burning chunks of synthetic tire rubber with coal as fuel for power generation. About 2 percent of the mix is tires.

Initial test results show tires do not interfere with boiler efficiency, heat value or emission standards.

IP has burned 600,000 discarded tires in the final phase of testing that began in February. By the end of summer, engineers expect to know if the tires and determine whether Baldwin boilers can burn the chunks.

continuously without damage to equipment.

If the boilers can sustain a 2 percent mix, they will eliminate 6 million old tires a year.

Technologically, there is nothing to prevent using even higher proportions of tire chunks, said David Stopek, supervisor of research and development at Illinois Power.

The chemical composition of tires is so similar to coal that burning them in small percentages requires no significant engineering changes in power generation or emission control equipment, Stopek said.

The furnaces that burn the fuel mix are efficient enough to eliminate any possibility of rubber odor of smoke.

County seeking forfeiture of suspected drug dealer's money

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine has filed a forfeiture complaint seeking the $29,151 that was seized from a pickup truck on Interstate 55 being used by a suspected marijuanna trafficker from Texas.

The money was being used in drug trafficking and would be turned over to authorities, Haine said in the complaint filed in Circuit Court. If a judge orders the money forfeited, Illinois State Police would get a 75 percent cut, while the U.S. attorney and the state's appellate prosecutor's service would split the rest.

A state trooper stopped the truck May 12 on I-55 east of Edwardsville after the driver failed to signal when changing lanes.

The driver, Abelardo Gomez, 30, of El Paso, Texas, identified himself as an inspector of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, but it turned out he was associated with the service.

A passenger, James Vacha, 26, of El Paso, was wanted in Christian County for failure to appear on a traffic charge.

Police frisked Gomez and found $29,151. Haine consented to a search of the truck and police found a wallet containing Vacha's identification, $704, a map highlighting a route from Sen. Sam Vandadale.

Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, said Senate Bill 1532, which would provide $50 per month for a disabled veteran who was a prisoner of war, now moves to the House for further consideration.

"The bill closes a loophole which left out POWs from the Korean Conflict, World War II in both the European and Pacific theaters. POWs from Vietnam and the Persian Gulf already receive compensation. Those deserving protection of war have been neglected," Vadalabene said. "The law should be uniform. We should not recognize any one conflict or war without recognizing another. SB 1532 recognizes the sacrifice these individuals made for our freedom."

The Department of Veterans Affairs, which supports the bill, estimates that 2,750 former POWs would receive the compensation under the bill at a cost of $1.8 million.

Texas to Illinois and an envelope containing records of alleged drug transactions.

Small quantities of marijuana were found in the envelope.

After questioning, Gomez admitted he and Vacha had taken 180 pounds of marijuana from El Paso to Brookfield near Chicago and were returning to El Paso, police said.

Police searched the truck again May 14 and discovered another $22,200 in a hidden compartment beneath an armrest.

Haine had charged Gomez with an assault on a law enforcement officer but dropped the charge when federal charges were filed against him.

Scott command system altered

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

At a ceremony Monday at Scott Air Force Base, the Air Force replaced its old three command systems of management with a single command.

The Air Mobility Command replaced the Military Airlift Command, Strategic Air Command and Tactical Air Command as part of the Air Force's restructuring plan.

"Was the old system broken? No. But we think this system will be even better," said Capt. Joe Stephenson, director of Command and Control.

This marks the 40th anniversary of the Air Force since its creation in 1947.

The Air Force is restructuring its system of management because of budget constraints.

"We are reducing staff at the upper management level," Stephenson said.

At the same time, the entire armed forces are being restructured because the government does not see a need for such a large military force now that the cold war is over with the Soviet Union, he said.

AMC will be under the command of Gen. Hans-Joachim Johnson and Maj. Gen. Walter Kross will act as vice commander.

The primary mission of AMC, based at Scott Air Force Base, will be to provide mobility for the entire armed forces.

In the past, MAC traditionally flew cargo planes, TAC flew fighters, bombers and tankers and bombers and tankers stood watch in missile silos.

Now those operations will be under the control of one agency. AMC will provide airlift, aerial refueling, aeromedical evacuation and combat rescue for all the armed forces.

Tanker/Airlift Control Center, a new agency for the control and monitoring of airlift and air-refueling assets also will be based at Scott AFB.

AMC will be in command of 116 Air Force installations: 16 will be under AMC control, 41 will be occupied by AMC and 59 are Air Reserve components.

There are 179,000 military and civilian personnel under the command of AMC: 91,000 active, 37,000 guard and 51,000 reserve personnel world wide.

AMC also will be in command of 1,606 aircraft.

The ceremony to activate AMC and retire TAC, TAC and SAC was at noon in the base. A parade followed the ceremony to celebrate AMC's activation.

Incomplete — Work is continuing on the Illinois 203 McCambridge Avenue overpass in Madison. The new overpass is scheduled to open to traffic by mid-summer, according to officials of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Sparks said the surveys are used as a performance tool to assess how well each officer is doing his or her job.

"On a real negative complaint, I'm going to find out what happened," he said. An A negative response is just as good as a positive response if it means making better cops."

Sparks adapted the "Citizen Survey" program from a model survey program used in Madison County, Ill., and Altamont Springs, Fla., but said police departments nationwide conduct surveys similar to this. Altamont Springs is the only other department that asks these officers for their comments, he said.

Responses mailed in by victims of crime were often anonymous. One victim of a "violation of an order of protection" wrote: "Thank you, thank you, thank you for everything and for standing by me." Another complainant wrote, "I had trouble with one police officer and one dispatcher when answering the telephone."

"If only we could have gotten the same quality of help from the Humane Department," another anonymous response read.

Of the 18 "victim" responses, 17 were "good" responses and only one response was "fair." Sparks found no "poor" responses.

Victims surveyed were unanimous in their feelings satisfied with the officers' performance in their individual situations.

"That tells us that we are doing our jobs," Knight said of the survey results.

"We are in a negative situation and getting a positive response," he said.

them in the U.S. market, undercutting the prices of the major U.S. car dealers." The bill would provide for "look-alike protection" of designs deemed "original" or "distinctive in appearance" for a 10-year period.

Opponents of the bill say the legislation is too sweeping and would damage many small businesses, creating a monopoly on parts sold by car manufacturers.

"(With this bill) you have to go to the dealer to get parts for your car. And if you don't like the dealer, you pay full price," said Vince Madonia, a spokesman for the Automotive Wholesalers of Illinois. Madonia estimates that about 2,000 auto parts stores in Illinois are out of business if the bill becomes law.

The Design Protection Act is also sponsored by Rep. Richard Gephart, D-Missouri. House majority leader, and has the support of 80 House members. The Act is currently under review in the Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on Intellectual Property and Judicial Administration.

"Part of the impetus behind this legislation is that auto companies were losing money. Insurance companies were encouraging people to buy more parts from parts stores at cheaper prices than the (local auto) dealers' parts," said Leslie Aubin of the National Federation of Independent Businesses in Washington, D.C. "As of right now, it shuts out a lot of small businesses."

Costello was en route to Washington and could not be reached by telephone. Brian Lott, the Act is intended to make the process of patents and copyrighting faster, thus allowing America to keep up with the flood of after-market products that are coming from Germany, for instance, award three times as many patents on their goods as we do. They move to patent their inventions faster than we can." This bill is intended to expedite the procedure," he said.

However, Costello believes that the bill is poorly written at this point, Lott said. "The things he's concerned with is the after-market industry. We don't want to penalize the parts dealers," Lott said.

Lott said Gephart's proposed amendment to the Act that would cover 98 percent of parts typically sold by parts dealers, such as fan belts and replacement parts.

Nida said, "I'm pleased we're tracking upward and we expect to see that continue to improve," he said.

The state's attorney's office added two more prosecutors to the existing two assigned to DUI cases last month through a special team from the Illinois Department of Transportation, Von Nida said.

In addition, the county's statistics may be skewed because of the way DUI cases are reported, he said.

A survey indicated that about 25 percent of the drivers charged with DUI in the county were issued two citations, one for failing a blood alcohol test and one based on physical observation of intoxication.

But the secretary of state's report may only show one summary suspension for both arrests, he said.

Driving privileges are automatically revoked for at least three months for a first DUI offense or 12 months for a multiple offender. The suspensions take effect after a 45-day delay period.

The summary suspension can be halted by a judge if he finds an error in the arrest, such as lack of probable cause or sufficient evidence. That's where the active defense attorneys come in.

Von Nida said it appeared more defendants hire lawyers to contest the suspension in Madison County than ever before.

The report showed that Madison County improved last year in suspensions involving first-time arrests but a higher percentage of multiple offenders avoided suspensions.

For multiple offenders, 81 percent lost driving privileges up from 72 percent in 1990, according to the report.

All 16 arrests in Calhoun County, Macoupin and Jersey County recorded a 99 percent suspension rate for its 143 arrests and Macoupin County 92 percent of the 167 arrests.

Helping you make the right decisions in a complex world.

CHOICES

Col. 3:1 "If you are risen with Christ, seek those things above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Let go your hold of this world, and let me remind you once again that the word if, always signifies a possibility of doubt. If you are risen with Christ certainly requires of you a personal examination. Where are you today? Can you be positive looking inward that Christ is the Lord of your life?

When we are risen with Christ then we have to live in renewed life. Our attitude about Christ will certainly bring it to be a joy to face every day, regardless of our circumstances. And why not since Christ is with us never to leave nor forsake us.

Please understand that the things that are heavenly, that pertain to the Kingdom must be sought for. Paul says we are to seek these things above. So if our dependence is Christ seeking him, then we will be a joy to face every day, regardless of our circumstances. And why not since Christ is with us never to leave nor forsake us.

Please take notice that you can hear our radio program, called daily 105.200 p.m. Mon. thru Friday on Praise Radio 1010 on your AM dial. Also on Sunday mornings at 7:30 a.m. on W.C.B.W. 104.9 FM. Thank you for listening.

In the meantime you have a real good Spirit filled day. Amen.

Strange sickness puts family in continuous struggle with food

By Maxine Green
Correspondent

The kitchen in the O'Leary's home is a war zone. It is there that they battle their son's life-threatening addiction to food.

A chain on the refrigerator door and padlocks on the cabinet doors are the only means to keep the food he craves. Given the opportunity, the young man, who suffers from Prader-Willi Syndrome, would literally eat himself to death.

"We keep our refrigerator closed shut so we can hear him if he tries to get in," said Judy O'Leary, his mother. "He can't be left alone or out of our sight for a minute. His whole life is focused around food."

"Timmy's problem with food has nothing to do with willpower. Prader-Willi is a birth defect attributed to the partial deletion of the 15th chromosome. For Tim and others with the illness, Prader-Willi means a constant insatiable hunger. At this time there is no known cure.

A 600-calorie-a-day diet is the only way to maintain his weight and save his life.

"Grandma, you should go on a diet like I do—I have dieted all my life," says Tim.

"People with Prader-Willi are not really hungry, but will eat 50-60 below windstorm if there was a hamburger on the other end," said Joe. "It's just like an alcoholic or drug addict."

At 6 foot-4 and 150 pounds, Tim is in much better physical condition than most who suffer from Prader-Willi Syndrome. Most of the victims die in their early 20s after ballooning to 300 or 400 pounds.

The defect also carries with it varying degrees of mental retardation. "Timmy gets along well socially, but mentally he is at the age level of a 7 or 8 year old," his grandmother says.

Joe and Billye Schmidt, his grandparents, watch Timmy on a regular basis so his parents can work. The couple, who live in Linda's Market, Pontoon Beach, have learned that keeping a watchful eye on Tim is almost an impossible task.

Billye has given Timmy the nickname "Rock" because he has had 22 years of learning how to steal food. "He can stand in front of me and put a sandwich, cookies, anything, in his pocket and I don't see him do it," said Billye. "He has even gone so far as to eat out of trash cans and eat the dog biscuits. This is common for those with this syndrome."

A supportive living group home has been developed in St. Louis County for those with Prader-Willi Syndrome. Joe and Billye have been active in this process, by making and selling arts and crafts for the organization.

With the support of the group home, Tim and others with Prader-Willi Syndrome will have a chance to live a longer and a more productive life.

OH MY ACHING CORNS!

A phrase so commonly used by those suffering needlessly from painful corns. Although trimming them, and temporarily relief within 12 to 24 hours, the corn occurs again with the pain and discomfort. The reassurance comes to the underlying calcium deposit causing excessive pressure where the skin responds by building up the corn tissue. In almost all instances, the corn can be permanently removed by a office procedure requiring little or no time off work. There is no need to suffer any longer—consult the physicians and surgeons at the FOOT HEALTH CENTERS.

The unusual architecture of the building features walls made of Roan and glass and 4-inch deep white carpeting.

Dinner will be at the hotel, followed by live entertainment by the "Let's Pretend Country Singers."

Saturday of the weekend will begin with a breakfast at the hotel. Then the group will go to Johnston Park before a visit to the Precious Moments Factory, known as the "Cradle of the Wax Casting Industry, where antiquities in wax are made.

The next stop of the day will be at "Woolaroc," a wildlife preserve with a world-renowned museum and national Y-Indian Center.

Lunch will consist of a buffalo burger, drink and chips.

Residents of the Park District will have priority in making reservations, with each person only allowed to reserve one room. Room residency must be presented at the time a reservation is made.

Blair School, located in North Venice, serves as the neighborhood elementary school for North Venice and West Madison.

Kostencik has blamed the district's fiscal woes on steadily decreasing state aid over the last four years.

He said reductions in the district's $1.6 million operating budget resulted in Madison schools being placed on a state "watch list" from 1988 to 1990.

The $250,000 deficit figure is an estimate, but Kostencik said his plan to defer financial aid to the district for June, paying instead in July, Kostencik said.

He said the delay amounts to "a major setback" for the district, but it is a very strong possibility of not finishing in the black for the year.

District 12 teachers and custodians are currently negotiating new contracts.

Teachers said the school district needs to lay off six teachers, but that if faculty members agreed to "a pay freeze, we would probably not look at that number of (layoffs)."

Brock makes appearance for children's charity

By Ann-Marie Campos
Staff writer

Burgers and baseball came together for a common cause on Thursday.

McDonald's in Fairview Heights to meet fans and autograph "Lou Brock" paraphernalia such as T-shirts, posters and a lot of baseball cards.

His appearance was part of a fund-raiser for the Ronald McDonald Children's Charities.

"I've been waiting since 1967 for this," said Ed Billups, a Lemont resident. "It's an honor to meet him. I've followed him every since he's been a Cardinal."

Brock is one of 55 St. Louis Cardinals featured in the "All-Time Cardinal Greats," a limited-edition baseball card collection available at participating McDonald's.

A variety of five collectible sets ($1.49 per set) are obtainable with the purchase of any large meal, a Mac Jr. or breakfast sandwich until June 30 while supplies last. Profits from the card sales will benefit Ronald McDonald Children's Charities.

As part of the promotion, each of the 55 St. Louis Cardinal legends will make a special appearance at various McDonald's in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas.

"Sometimes a performance transcends what you become a standard measurement," said the 32-year-old retired outfielder, who today is the St. Louis-based marketing company, Brock World Products. "It's nice to be perceived that way."

And he meant it.

Hundreds of admirers lined the McDonald's parking lot. Some had arrived more than two hours early just to insure their chances for an autograph. And the importance of his appearance, Brock did his best to make sure everyone got an enjoyable moment.

"Can you sign my hat?" a young boy asked.

"Only if you take it off," Brock joked.

"Will you sign two things for me?" asked a woman. "The paper only said one..."

"The paper says one, I say none," he said and grinned. "Do you believe everything you read?"

"It's nice to be part of history," Brock said while writing his signature on a baseball. "To be able to relive the memory, as well as being a bridge to different times and moments in history."

West beats Warriors again – this time for keeps

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

The third time wasn't a charm for the Warrior baseball team – and neither was the fourth. Belleville West Maroons beat Granite City Warriors 6-0 in their second meeting this time in 1992 Monday, and this time it meant something. West improved to 24-9 by blanking the Warriors 6-0 to win the Belleville West Regional and advance to the Granite City Sectional on Saturday. The Warriors finished 23-9.

Granite City got a strong pitching performance from sophomore pitcher Drake Marshall (1-6) for 6.2 innings, but the Maroons broke it open in the seventh with four runs. That was more than enough for right-hander Aaron Burke, who shut out the Warriors on two hits before Saturday's game. Cozies and Joel Sigman came on to strike out John Cozair with the bases loaded for the final out.

"I was thinking a lot about our game with Granite City today," said West coach Chris Hildreth. "It's tough to beat any team three times in one year. It's even harder to beat a team four times, especially a team like Granite City."

But the combination of Burke's 6.2 innings and Mueth's bat were too much for the Warriors to overcome. Mueth had three extra base hits and four RBIs. His double scored Brian Valerius on the first run and the third, he hit a solo homer in the fourth, to make it 2-0. Then he bloomed a two-run double down the left field line with two outs in the seventh to make it 4-0.

"He had an outstanding day, although the last one was just a chinker that fell in," said

Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier. "I guess we stayed a little too long with Burke. But you hate to take him out outside of a couple pitches he was fine."

Until Burke walked two around Marc Patton's single in the seventh, the Warriors had only three runs. None got past second. Marshall left the field.

He had to settle for a double and was stranded. Patton was out at third trying to advance on a single, but he was safe after he had reached on an error.

The play that broke the game open was Burke's infield hit with one out in the seventh. Shortstop Les Nunes was forced to play in the hole and threw high to first. Chris Hildreth came down and tagged Burke, but too late.

"I asked the umpire if he saw the tag," said Stegemeier. "He said it was runner on the base when the tag was made, so there was no need to argue."

That paved the way for consecutive two-out hits by Jeff Burton, Mueth, Eric Bernard and Matt Osborn that accounted for four runs.

"Mueth had hit the ball fairly well against Granite City this year, but nothing like this," said Hildreth. "Our team was not to be denied today. This was one of Burke's best games, too."

Burke struck out five and walked only the two in the seventh. Outside of the hits by Marshall and Patton, only two other balls left the field.

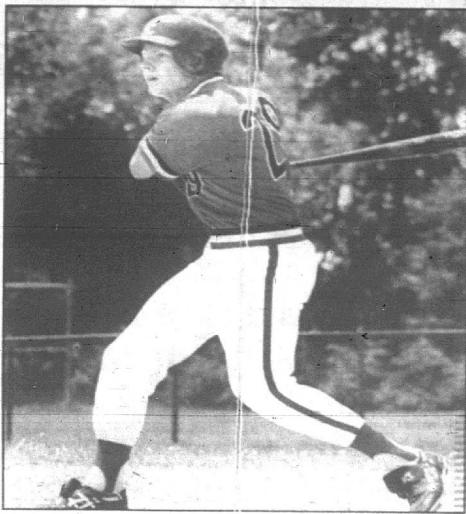

And the Maroon infielders made some nice plays, particularly a diving stop by second baseman Jeff Burton on Bobby Wilson's grounder in the fourth.

"Burke pitched great and they made the plays," said Stegemeier.

"I thought we hit the ball pretty good most of the time, but the field was sharp."

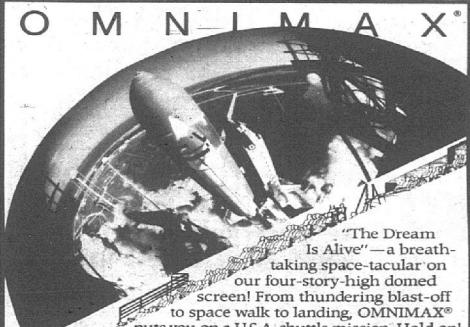

While the Maroon move on, the Warriors won't face much of a rebuilding job. They lose some key seniors like Marshall, Hildreth, Cozies and Billy Van Buskirk, but the majority of the team was made up of juniors and sophomores.

"We have 21 wins coming back next year," said Stegemeier, referring to his pitching staff.

Throw disappoints Curry, but he'll accept 2nd place

By Keith Farrell
Correspondent

Larry Curry did not have his first day of throwing the discus at the Class AA state track meet in Charleston last weekend, but his performance was good enough for a second-place medal.

"You've got to be happy with second, but I was a little disappointed that I didn't win it," Curry said. "It wasn't my best throw."

Although Curry was the only Waukegan representative, he had many friends who came up for support. Going into the final Saturday, Curry had given them plenty to cheer about. He was the No. 2 seed thanks to a 154-foot throw in the preliminary round on Friday, second best of the 48 competitors.

As the field narrowed down to 12 finalists in the discus on Saturday, Curry said he became more focused for the finals. It showed. His first throw was measured at 162-10, which turned out to be his best throw of the day.

"I thought I had a better throw on my last one, but it fell just a little short," Curry said.

Darnell Carter from Bolingbrook won the state discus title with a throw of 164-3.

Curry enjoyed the weather for the better wind for him.

"It was a lot better wind than (Friday); the conditions were much better," Curry said. "(Friday) the conditions were kind of bad, and the wind was blowing pretty badly Saturday, the competition stepped up a level."

"My best meet was probably when I broke the record at the Tiger Relays, but I ought to be happy with a second-place show-state," Curry said with a laugh.

In the Tiger Relays held on April 23, he threw 168-5 for a school record and a personal-best. But Saturday marked the end of Curry's track career. He will concentrate on his football scholarship at Northwestern University now.

It's the second straight year that Curry has had a second-place finisher at state. Dan Bresler was runner-up in the high jump in 1991.

In Class A, Madison's 800 meter relay team took sixth with a time of 1:33.23. Chicago U. High won that event in a time of 1:31.26.

Bauman gets 3rd win at speedway

Hard-charging Ed Bauman extended his lead in the Tri-City Speedway/Claire Oil late model series with his third feature win of the season.

Bauman took the lead from Bill Faast on the second lap of the main event and edged away from a dogfight that ended with Faast, Tony Izzo Jr., Jim Barick and Ken Gunderson finishing under a blanket. Izzo and Sonny Spyker won the heats and Faast won the dash.

The Skoal/IMCA modifieds had yet another new winner as Dave Jones won his first career victory in that class over Ron Heaton and points leader Charlie Smith. The feature was slowed by a second-lap pileup on the front straight that sent several contenders off. Jones also won the trophy dash and his heat. Steve Meyer Sr. and Heaton won the other heats, and Don McElroy took the dash.

John Stanton was a double winner in the Mello Yello pro stocks, prevailing in his heat race and the main event. Dave Jones and Jerry Schubbe were the runners-up in the feature. Ron Petty won his heat.

The All-Star Circuit of Champions comes to Tri-City Speedway on June 13.

Glen Carbon is looking for time capsule items

By Nicole Vaughn
Staff writer

Area residents can help Glen Carbon celebrate its 100th birthday next month and at the same time become a permanent part of history, by placing an item in the Centennial Time Capsule.

Originally, each class at Glen Carbon School was to make an item to put in the capsule. But now adults are getting in on the act.

"Anything anyone wants to put in is appropriate," said John Celuch, who is working on the time capsule with Trustee Helen Graettinger.

The only restriction is that items cannot exceed 12 inches in any dimension. Residents can bring items for the capsule to the Centennial Headquarters Store located near the school. It is open to Wal-Mart at Cottonwood Mall. Items will be registered and may be reclaimed when the capsule is unearthed in 25 years. Anything going in the capsule must be turned in by June 8.

The time capsule will be buried in Miner Park at noon on June 20, the last day of Glen Carbon's centennial celebration. 'West Side Story' auditions set for Sunday

Auditions for the musical, "West Side Story," will be held Sunday, June 7, between 2 and 6 p.m. at the Eagles Home (upstairs), 2558 Madison Ave., Granite City.

There are roles for 37 men and women. Those trying out are asked to bring a prepared song and a short monologue. An accompanist will be provided, and sheet music and monologue material will be available. Principals will be asked to read from the script.

West Side Story sets the tragic love story of Romeo and Juliet in the contemporary slums of New York City and celebrates with fiery intensity love's attempt to flourish against a backdrop of hate and prejudice.

Caught between two warring street gangs, the Jets and the Sharks, Tony and Maria bridge the chasm between the gangs with their new-found love.

Set against their idealistic romance is the street-wise love of Anita and Bernardo, also driven by the passions of their ghetto society.

The musical collaboration between Leonard Bernstein and Stephen Sondheim includes a bevy of Broadway tunes such as "Maria," "Tonight," "America," "I Feel Pretty," and "A Place For Us."

For an appointment or additional information, persons may call ShowTime Express at 876-6535.

Summer's sweet sensation

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

If ice cream were running for president, it would win by a landslide. Warm weather heats up the incentive for eating it, but variety and availability add steam to its popularity.

While ice cream appeals to all age groups, teens consume the most, accounting for 53 percent of ice cream sales every week. With premium yogurt and frozen custard reaching the high end of the frozen dessert spectrum, frozen yogurt takes its status as an authoritative upscale with flavors, varieties and quality appealing to its own spoon-wavers.

Vanilla, then chocolate are the favorite flavors of U.S. ice cream lovers, then come butter pecan and strawberry in a tie, followed by neapolitan and chocolate chip.

Connoisseurs of frozen custard may flatly refuse to switch from their favorite brand, which can never be a losing strategy if they like to dress up their basic flavor, too. This summer's new flavor at Ted Drewes

Frozen Custard in south and southwest St. Louis is Bunny Concrete, based on the flavor of cream custard.

Charlie Turner of Turner's Frozen Custard in Florissant, says St. Louis is known as the originator of the national trend to add cookie and candy bar flavors. He first added Oreo cookies to his frozen custard and M&Ms in 1982. Dairy Queen used St. Louis as its first market with the sweet addition in 1984.

Turner's new concrete creation for this year is cheesecake in strawberry, cherry and pineapple flavor.

At Ted Drewes Frozen Custard in St. Charles, the "turtie" sundae — not the moving kind — is the favorite.

Most freezers hold ice cream during the summer, so the creamy dessert is at finger tip convenience for those with water-tasting uses for it. For the person who likes to make it at home, a free leaflet with tips and recipes is available by sending a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to Ice Cream Basics, Midland United Dairy Industry Association, 101 NE Trippin, Ankeny, Iowa 5021.

ICE CREAM PIE & HOT TOFFEE SAUCE

From "St. Peter's Pantry" cookbook (Kirkwood)

18 ladyfingers
1/2 gal. vanilla ice cream
1 1/2 cups chopped Heath candy bars (divided)
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup evaporated milk
2 lbs. margarine
2 tbsp. vanilla corn syrup
Pinch salt

Line bottom and side of springform pan with ladyfingers. Fill halfway with ice cream. Top with 1/2 cup chopped candy, which is chopped easily by freezing, then putting in a plastic bag and breaking apart with a hammer. Top with remaining ice cream. Freeze.

In small saucepan, combine sugar, milk, margarine, corn syrup and salt. Heat to boiling. Simmer 2 minutes. Stir in 1/2 cup candy. Pour hot sauce over individual pieces of pie.

HOT FUDGE SAUCE

From "Cooking in Clover II" cookbook (Jewish Hospital Auxiliary)

1 cup water
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup butter, cut in pieces
1/2 cup granulated sugar

Pinch salt
1 cup whipping cream
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla

In medium saucepan, combine cocoa, brown and granulated sugars and salt. Add cream and butter. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Cool 5 minutes. Stir in vanilla.

Note: Sauce may be stored in jars with tight-fitting lids and stored in refrigerator up to 1 month.

FUDGE MUD SLIDE

From "Cooking With Mickey, Volume II" (Walt Disney World)

1 brownie
1/2 cup whipped cream
1/2 cup chocolate syrup
1/2 cups vanilla ice cream

1/2 cup hot fudge topping
1 Oreo cookie, crushed
1/4 cup almonds, sliced, chopped
1 maraschino cherry

Place brownie in large bowl or sundae dish. Add ice cream. Top with hot fudge sauce and crushed cookie. Add whipped cream. Drizzle with chocolate syrup. Sprinkle with almonds. Top with cherry. Makes 1 sundae.

PARFAIT PIE

From "Our Dairy Specialties" (Illinois Dairy Farmers and Illinois Dairy Farm Wives)

1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
2 tbsp. sugar
1/2 cup butter, melted, divided
1 pkg. (4 serving) gelatin, any flavor

1/2 cups hot water
1 pt. vanilla ice cream
1 cup fresh fruit (berries work best), chopped if necessary

Grease 9-inch pie pan with 1 tablespoon butter. Combine remaining butter, sugar and water. Press evenly and firmly in prepared pan. Chill about 1 hour. Meanwhile, dissolve gelatin in hot water in 2-quart saucepan. Add ice cream by spoonful, stirring until melted. Chill 15 to 20 minutes until thickened but not set. Fold in fruit.

FOOD

Desserts delicious made in microwave

By Barb Gray
Certified home economist

Yogurt is a dairy food that has proved it has staying power. The trick of making yogurt is to keep it at a constant temperature of 110° to let the culture grow. Test the oven with a probe is ideal for this.

The amount of butterfat in the milk determines the calorie content of the yogurt. Reconstituted nonfat dry milk can be added to milk to increase the yogurt's protein and calcium content.

First, measure 3 cups milk into a 2-quart glass bowl. Microwave on high, uncovered, 3 to 4 minutes until warm (130°). Stir 1 cup water and 2% can nonfat dry milk powder, blending until smooth. Cool mixture to 115°.

Blend 1/4 cup plain yogurt with active culture — the label is the only way to be sure if it is this type of yogurt — until smooth to make it smooth. Cover the dish with plastic wrap and insert temperature probe through plastic so it rests in center of milk mixture.

Place bowl in a microwave oven. Set probe to maintain 100° temperature 3 to 4 hours until mixture is thick. The longer the time, the firmer and more tart the yogurt will be.

Remove the probe. Place mixture in the refrigerator to chill. Yogurt keeps at least two weeks. This makes about 4 cups or 1 quart of yogurt.

Yogurt can be substituted for dairy sour cream in some recipes. Yogurt is made from milk, while sour cream is made from cream, so yogurt is more tart and slightly more liquid. There can be interesting flavor early in salad dressings, casseroles, stroganoffs, vegetable dishes and fruit desserts. Baked products such as muffins, cakes and banana bread are more difficult to alter because the sour cream may contribute to the fat needed for tenderness.

Strawberry Yogurt Pie is proof that dairy products produce great desserts. In microwave oven, the pie goes together in a jiffy. Flavors can be varied according to the fresh fruit season. Try raspberries, blueberries or kiwi for others.

Frozen yogurt is an outstanding, new preference among frozen dairy desserts. This recipe can be made with or without an ice cream maker.

Strawberry yogurt pie

3 tbsps. margarine
1 1/4 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
25 large marshmallows
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup (8 oz.) strawberry yogurt
1 cup (1/2 pt.) whipping cream
Red food coloring, if desired
6 fresh strawberries, if desired

In uncovered 9-inch glass pie plate, microwave margarine on high power for 45 to 60 seconds until melted. Stir in crumbs. Press evenly in bottom and up side of pie plate. Microwave on high power, uncovered, 1 to 1 1/2 minutes until heated through. Set aside to cool.

Combine marshmallows and milk in 2-quart glass bowl. Microwave on high, uncovered, 1 to 1 1/2 minutes until marshmallows are puffed. Stir until mixture is smooth. Refrigerate about 45 minutes until firm.

Spoon evenly into crust. Refrigerate for at least 3 hours until set. Garnish with strawberries just before serving.

Makes 6 servings.

Frozen yogurt

2 cups skim milk
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1 qt. (32 oz.) plain yogurt
1/2 cup orange juice

Combine 1 cup milk, gelatin and sugar in 2-quart glass bowl. Mix well. Microwave on high power, uncovered and stirring often, 2 1/2 to 3 minutes until steaming hot and gelatin and sugar are dissolved.

Stir in yogurt and vanilla. Blend well. Transfer to ice cream freezer. Freeze according to freezer directions.

Serve soft-frozen or transfer to freezer for hard-frozen product. Makes 10 servings.

BrieflyDAR chapter meets

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the NSDAR held its May meeting in the private dining room of Shoney's Restaurant with seven members present.

Regent Linda Koenig led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag as the meeting was opened. Judge Schatz read the President General's message and Emma Schoen presented a national defense topic on "Swedish Socialism, a Failure." Minutes from the April meeting were read as well as the treasurer's report.

The June 4 District Meeting in Alton was discussed. Audrey Sperry, Judge Schatz, Emma Schoen, and Barbara Williams will attend to represent the chapter. The local group will be the hostess for the October District Meeting to be held in the same location.

Programs and hostesses for the upcoming year were discussed. Audrey Sperry presented the program entitled "The History of Memorial Day," after which the group adjourned until September.

Others in attendance were Dorothy Whitmer and Margaret Bell.

Church Women hold fellowship

A call for a compassionate community went out at the May Fellowship Day celebration of Church Women United at the Old City area 1 at a devotional service and salad luncheon held at St. Peter United Church of Christ, Old City, 21st and Cleveland.

Thirteen Quad-City churches, representing five denominations, sent representatives. A need for compassion and healing among ourselves and throughout the community was emphasized.

Participants included Rev. Early detection controls garden pests

Don't let all your hard work in the garden be foiled by pests.

Early detection is essential for good control of vegetable pests. Learn to identify and distinguish between pests and beneficial predators. Watch for bagworms feeding on evergreen needles, but especially juniper and arborvitae. Take a look at your cucumber and squash vines. When they start to "run," begin treatment to control caterpillars and squash vine borers.

Inspect your fruit trees for oriental fruit moths which appear this time of year. These fruit moths are most serious on peaches, where the pest's generation attacks growing tips, making the shoots wilt. Any wilted shoots should be pruned out.

In the flower garden, pinch off the faded flowers of bulbs and spring flowering perennials. Thin seedlings before plants crowd one another.

In order to extend the harvest season of your vegetable garden, you can repeat plantings of corn and beans this week.

Don't let your lawn get dry. Water it as needed to prevent drought stress. Cut your lawn frequently enough so that no more than one-third of the total height per mowing. There is no need to remove the grass clippings, unless they are excessive. Keep your zoysia lawn cut to 1.5 inches high, but mow bluegrass to 2 to 3.5 inches high. Turfgrasses growing in shaded conditions should be mowed at the higher end of the scale.

The Missouri Botanical Garden's Kemper Center for Home Gardening is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Each month there is a monthly garden display to give ideas and inspiration. Visit the Plant Doctor, see new tools and techniques for growing plants at home and learn more about the extensive gardening library. Meet with the Master Gardeners to chat about gardening questions.

Solar screens serve as energy savers

Many homeowners fail to realize exactly how storm windows work. In fact, windows do a decent job in controlling heat and cold that is transferred by conduction and convection.

But there is a third type of heat transfer that is very important in controlling solar radiation. And, almost all of the sun's radiated heat (or sun rays) pass right through the layers of glass and air that make up most storm windows. Once these rays enter the window, they are absorbed and re-radiated within that home as heat.

That's why carpets, furnishings and other interior surfaces are positioned to direct sun rays. Become quite hot even when it's freezing cold outside. Imagine how this radiated heat can add to cooling costs in the summer time.

This is where solar screens can make a big improvement on the summer efficiency of storm windows. Since the screens are installed on the outside of the glass, they stop a large portion (up to 70 percent) of these sun rays before they enter the window.

Thousands of homeowners install storm windows each year. If you are planning on investing in storm windows, or if you already have them, here's a tip on how to make them save energy. A solar screen, according to Frank S. Fitzgerald, CAE, Executive Vice President and Technical Director for Screen Manufacturers Association.

Instead of conventional insect screens that usually come on storm windows and cover only the bottom window, look for storm windows that are available with full length solar screens.

When used in place of regular insect screening, solar screens can block up to 70 percent of the sun's heat. The result is a window that will help keep your heat inside during the winter months and the sun's heat outside in the summer.

If full solar radiation is desirable, solar screens for storm windows (for example) the solar screens can be removed and stored during the winter months.

Heat that never enters your home means you never pay for it. The result is a lower utility bill.

Solar screens are a lot like putting your windows under a large shade tree except that the screens stay in place all day long to keep the heat from the window surface.

Key to controlling anxiety is learning its causes, planning response

The following column was written by Suzanne Chisum, Monroe-Randolph County registered dietitian specialist with Human Support Services, for May, which is Mental Health Month.

Anxiety affects all of us at one time or another. For most of us, the anxiety is linked with an event such as buying a house, and is short in duration.

The anxiety can be positive by helping us be motivated. Sensitive to power, anxiety can be harmful. If the source of anxiety is not addressed, physical and mental distress may occur. The physical distress commonly takes the form of migraine headaches, stomach problems such as ulcers, and muscle and joint problems. Mental distress may include panic attacks and phobias. If the anxiety is so great that it does not permit you to function normally, professional help may be needed.

Here are some tips on becoming worry free:

• Address the problem. Learn what situations cause you anxiety. Do you seem to always have a headache before you go to your mother-in-law's on Christmas Eve? Ask yourself what is causing the problem. Is it due to the food, or your desire to be home, or maybe you just don't get along with your mother-in-law? And what is the problem?

• Talk through your problems. Learn to talk about your problems to a spouse or close friend. This is difficult for some to do. We're taught children to be tough we have to keep all our problems to ourselves. Anxiety diminishes when words flow freely in all directions.

• Limit your worry. Some people find that getting aside a specific time for worry, for example 15 minutes in the morning, works well. Often the worry will have shrank in importance by the time to worry has arrived.

• Live one day at a time. Deal with the things at hand today. Don't spend a lot of time in anticipation, since this can increase worry.

• Design an action plan. Do something to lessen your anxiety. Make a list of things that you can do to better deal with the anxiety.

• Seek help. If the anxiety is taking control of your life, there is professional help available. Talk to your pastor or a counselor. Human Support Services in Monroe County, 339-8644, and Human Service Center in Randolph County, 339-8333, have trained counselors that can help.

Remember that there are things that you can do to overcome anxiety and live a worry-free life.
